

There are over 55 million pet-keeping households in Europe. Not only are pets often « one more in the family », but they also support the daily activities of humans: dogs are trained to help people with physical disabilities in everyday tasks, horses help relieve mental and physical disabilities, petting a cat is proven to reduce stress levels.

Neil Parish, Member of the European Parliament,
Chairman of the Agriculture Committee, Chairman of the Intergroup for Animal Welfare,

Paulo Casaca, Member of the European Parliament
